

Al Plastino's original artwork for the 1964 story "Superman's Mission For President Kennedy" is at last on display at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum, where the late artist thought it had been for the past five decades. "We are just thrilled that these came home to where they belong," his daughter MaryAnn [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/al-plastinos-superman-artwork-on-display-at-kennedy-library/>