

The Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs has announced the winners of its seventh International Manga Award, a competition established in 2007 to encourage non-Japanese artists working in the manga style. In case you think the manga bubble has burst, consider that there were 256 entries from 53 countries this year, up from 245 entries for [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/02/american-creator-takes-silver-in-japanese-manga-competition/>