

Fox may have pulled the plug on its fledgling late-night programming block, but Animation Domination High-Def is still chugging along online, delivering its own lead-in to Independence Day: a parody of the opening to the 1966 Captain America cartoon that celebrates — ahem, make that “celebrates” — the United States’ statistical rankings in the world. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/captain-america-honors-grim-u-s-statistics-in-animated-sendup/>