

Cartoon Network has withdrawn a variant cover for IDW Publishing's The Powerpuff Girls #6 following criticism that the art sexualizes the comic's young protagonists. ICv2.com reports that Dennis Barger Jr., owner Wonderworld Comics in Detroit, singled out the cover on Monday, writing on his Facebook page, "Are we seriously sexualizing pre-teen girls like perverted writing [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/cartoon-network-pulls-sexualized-powerpuff-girls-variant/>