

In a well-timed series of posts, given the recent introduction of Barry Allen on The CW's Arrow and the character's planned spinoff, ComicBookMovie has been spotlighting the Flash video game that was lost with the 2008 closing of Brash Entertainment. Now Gregory E. Miller, who was the game's lead designer for developer BottleRocket Entertainment, has [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/12/check-out-concept-art-storyboards-from-canceled-flash-game/>