

Legal | A Tunisian court denied cartoonist Jabeur Mejri's appeal of an eight-month sentence on charges of insulting a public official. Mejri was sentenced to seven and a half years in prison in 2012 for drawing cartoons that insulted the Prophet Mohammed, but was pardoned by President Moncef Marzouki earlier this year. Before he was [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/05/comics-a-m-tunisian-court-denies-cartoonists-appeal/>