

Disney Interactive slashed about 700 jobs on Thursday, more than one-quarter of its entire staff, as part of entertainment giant's continuing battle to make its video game and Internet division profitable. Although the cuts had been anticipated for some time, few expected them to run that deep. The Playdom group, which produces social-media games, is [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/disney-interactive-cuts-700-jobs-scales-back-output/>