

With the arrival last week of the new volume of Fantastic Four came the departure of prolific colorist Paul Mounts, who worked on the Marvel series for 11 years. "Tom Brevoort had been editing Fantastic Four even longer than I had been coloring it, and after a record-breaking run on the title decided that it [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/end-of-an-era-as-colorist-paul-mounts-exits-fantastic-four/>