

In an ending that The New York Times could only describe as “fitting,” the $75 million musical Spider-Man: Turn Off the Dark closed its tumultuous Broadway run on Saturday with a technical glitch — one that required a crew member to run on stage during the performance to deal with a door that didn’t shut [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/final-curtain-falls-on-spider-man-turn-off-the-dark/>