

I was asked this week if there was something that we used to have in comics that's gone now, something I still missed. Of course, it's absurdly easy to snark off at a question like that. So let's say for purposes of discussion that someone already said "good stories" and "the real DC" and "books [...]"

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/16/friday-among-the-missing/>