

It's not exactly Kaneda's iconic ride, but Honda drawn upon the likes of Akira for its new bike, the NM4 Vultus. The company acknowledges as much in its press release, describing the motorcycle as "a ground-breaking machine inspired by futuristic machines seen in the anime and manga television and film styles, known collectively as 'Japanimation.'" [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/honda-unveils-anime-inspired-batman-esque-new-bike/>