

After 13 years, iFanboy announced this afternoon that it's "ceasing normal day-to-day operations," with only its podcasts continuing on the website. There will be no new written content. "The simple fact is that our lives are much different now than they were even five years ago, and with families and day jobs and other opportunities [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/09/ifanboy-ceases-normal-day-to-day-operations/>