

As big of a boon as Comic-Con International is to the San Diego economy, new research has found something significantly larger: beer. U-T San Diego reports that an independent study released on Monday— it's the first devoted to the impact of local craft brewing — found the county's breweries accounted for $299.5 million in wages, [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/04/in-san-diego-beer-is-bigger-business-than-comic-con/>