

KC Green, creator of the long-running Gun Show webcomic, draws with an unmistakable style that resembles modern-day Cartoon Network shows like Regular Show — only I'm pretty sure he got there first. There's also a bit of Spumco influence, too. However, Green doesn't draw to the sometimes off-putting lengths that John Kricfalusi does. It's clenched [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/04/kc-green-takes-his-webcomic-to-the-graveyard/>