

The first six pages of Beautiful Darkness comprise one of the more dramatic sequences you're likely to see in any comics work. On the first, a saucer-eyed young blonde is having hot chocolate and cake with the fancily dressed man she met at the ball, and then something is falling from the ceiling — "But [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/02/little-people-suffer-big-problems-in-beautiful-darkness/>