

Hiroshi Murayama, editor of the popular food manga Oishinbo and managing editor of the weekly magazine Big Comic Spirits, defended the series' portrayal of possible radiation dangers in the area around the Fukushima nuclear power plant, which was damaged in the March 2011 earthquake. The story has stirred controversy, resulting in complaints and angry letters [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/05/oishinbo-editor-defends-controversial-fukushima-story/>