

“In the past, comics companies have tended to suggest diversity should ‘happen naturally,’ as if when you leave a comic book open overnight gay men might grow in the pages like mustard and cress, so it’s great that Marvel are now championing it, doing it deliberately. Because that’s the only way it can be done. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/quote-of-the-day-paul-cornell-on-where-the-diversity-is/>