

Remember the sound that resonated around the world on July 24? The unison gurr-klap! noise made by thousands of readers groaning and slapping their foreheads simultaneously, accompanying the release of Constantine #5, and the eponymous warlock usurping the powers of Shazam? Yeah, you're bound to. That earth-shaking racket was the first thing I thought of [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/08/reject-pile-for-art-of-sean-phillips-will-make-lesser-artists-cry/>