

Jeph Jacques, creator of the long-running webcomic Questionable Content, may have come up with the website walmart.horse on a whim, but global retail leviathan isn't amused. In fact, Walmart has demanded the cartoonist, well, stop horsing around. Jacques explained to Ars Technica that the webpage was inspired by the latest batch of Top Level Domains, [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/03/retail-giant-says-neigh-to-cartoonists-walmart-horse-domain/>