

For the better part of a decade, Seattle bricklayer Howard Garton has strapped a fin on his back to become Orcaman, a hero of the waterways who jumps aboard his personal watercraft to entertain ferry passengers and collect floating garbage. But when he realized the job was too big for even Orcaman, Garton turned to [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/seattles-orcaman-takes-his-eco-message-to-comics/>