

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/11/some-assembly-required/>

Ikea's assembly instructions are so iconic, and their faux-Swedish names so easy to parody, that it's amazing someone hasn't done this already: College Humor has several sheets of instructions for making almost everything (a house, a baby, meth) Ikea-style. This one's the best, though—maybe next week we'll see one for Antijmätter Åtöms.