

With Captain America leading Marvel's charge into comic stores and movie houses, it's no surprise that other countries want their own patriotic hero to represent them. British comics writer Chris Bunting and the digital publisher Eco Comics is stepping forward with what it contends is England's first proper patriotic hero: the Englishman. What about Captain [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/05/step-aside-captain-britain-here-comes-the-englishman/>