

In three short years, Image Comics has turned Image Expo into the first big comics event of the year. Interest in the publisher's announcements has reached the point where I wish there were live-streaming video of the presentation. Maybe next year. For now, we have to settle with live coverage, which was still pretty fun. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/the-five-best-announcements-from-image-expo/>