

Not too long ago, I became aware of something called “seapunk.” After steampunk and deiselpunk, I had initially thought this was another strange technology-based trend based on the legitimate “cyberpunk” where geeks were far more interested in the aesthetic qualities rather than anything making sense. As it turns out, “seapunk” is far less serious. Unlike [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/the-ironic-awfulness-off-sweet-bro-and-hella-jeff/>