

Virtually every year, there's a high-concept Eisner nominee that utterly baffles me. In 2009, it was Speak No Evil, the undocumented-immigrant parable where a guy has a hole for a mouth, and last year, it was the weird Ant Comic. This year, it's probably going to be Brian Fies' The Last Mechanical Monster. It's based [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/07/the-last-mechanical-monster-no-country-for-old-villains/>