

Tied to last night's official announcement of a Justice League movie, The Wall Street Journal takes another look at Warner Bros., comparing its superhero output to that of Marvel — that's a familiar story by now — and, more interesting, highlighting the changing position of DC Entertainment within the media giant. The studio in 2009 [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/04/the-new-warner-bros-and-the-rise-of-dc-entertainment/>