

Tokyopop has been exploring lots of different venues for its manga (publishing Hetalia on Zinio and comiXology), and now they are signing on with a competitor: Digital Manga will be publishing manga from Tokyopop's yaoi imprint, Blu, on at its eManga site. EManga works on a points system—you buy a block of points and spend [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/10/tokyopop-and-digital-manga-hold-hands/>