

Illustrator Tomer Hanuka, best known in comics circles for projects like Bipolar, The Placebo Man and Meathaus S.O.S. (not to mention numerous covers), makes his New Yorker debut with the lovely, and surprisingly warm, cover for the Feb. 10 issue. Surprising, I say, because "Perfect Storm" deals with the winter weather, if from a different [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/02/tomer-hanuka-makes-his-new-yorker-cover-debut/>