

Are journal webcomics more personal than, say, a typical blog? Both involve a certain level of voyeurism. It’s not unwelcome, as the writer put a not-insignificant amount of effort chronicling their lives to the public, filtering moments to a key handful of anecdotes that hopefully someone, somewhere finds relatable or amusing. We get the sense [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/06/wasted-talent-engineering-a-better-tomorrow/>