

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2010/10/28/what-i-bought-27-october-2010/>

The great French revolutionary hero Danton, who will lose his head during the 'Terror,' is making a rueful remark. '... But Robespierre and the people,' he observes, 'are virtuous.' Danton is on a London stage, not really Danton at all but an actor speaking lines of Georg Büchner in English translation; and the time is [...]