

Wizard World Inc., which debuted in January 2011 as a publicly traded company, reported nearly $11.2 million in convention revenues in 2013, but still claimed a $3.6 million net loss for the year. According to documents filed today with the Federal Exchange Commission, those revenues amounted to an increase of 66 percent from 2012, attributed [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/wizard-world-saw-66-increase-in-convention-revenues-in-2013/>