

Randall Munroe, creator of the wildly popular webcomic xkcd, has joined a very exclusive group: comics writers and artists who've had asteroids named in their honor. According to the cartoonist, the International Astronomical Union, which assigns designations to celestial bodies, was accepting name suggestions for small solar system objects, and xkcd readers Lewis Hulbert and Jordan [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/10/xkcd-creator-randall-munroe-gets-asteroid-named-after-him/>