

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=28721&t=Check Out Spider-Man Web Swinging Through Traffic In New Set Pictures

Here is an excerpt from a report over at On Location Vacations as well as a selection of pictures. For more, be sure to follow the link to their site at the bottom of this page. Last night, the Spider-Man Reboot returned to S. Grand Ave in Los Angeles to shoot another stunt scene. During last night's shoot both Andrew Garfield (who plays Spider-Man) and a stuntman were on location taking turns filming a scene in which Spidey swings over the "New York City" traffic. In the photo above Andrew is climbing the ladder to for a shot on top of the truck while the stuntman can be seen standing next to him in the black jacket. The currently untitled Spider-Man reboot is set to be released in 3D on July 3, 2012!