

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=29298&t=Chris Evans Talks iCaptain Americai iThe Avengersi New Scene Details Revealed

On The "Hobbit Feet" He Had To Wear On The Manchester Set: "Man, I'm Frodo Baggins today! They're pretty comfortable, though. I forget I'm wearing them sometimes, and I glance down and go, 'Jeez! What have I stepped in?' I'm already tired. I'm sick of running. Too many days of running. But I'm excited for it." On Wearing The Costume And The Responsibility That Comes With It: "I've gotten a bit more used to it. I'm trying to approach this as if it wasn't a superhero movie. It's just about a guy who gets this amazing gift. But the first time I put on the costume, it was a real mix of excitement and terror. 'What have I gotten myself into?' But it's started to feel more like home. A lot of responsibility comes with this costume, I hope I'm doing it justice. Man, I could be wearing this for ten years!" On What He