

SuperHeroHype have posted details on their visit to the set of Captain America: The First Avenger last year, and what follows are a few brief highlights from their lengthy report. To read the entire thing, be sure to click on the link below to head on over to the site, but for now here are some of the best bits. Be sure to stay tuned to CBM today as many other sites are bound to also unveil their own take on what they saw in Shepperton Studios, England! As we wander around, producer Kevin Feige explains the images to us, giving tantalizing details of the film's story. "95% of this movie takes place in the past. The bookends are in the modern day. The very first scene of the film is the discovery in the arctic. If you know anything about Cap, you might know what that discovery is." A few minutes

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=40241&t=First_Highlights_From_iCaptain_America_The_First_Avengeri_Set_Visit_Revealed