

On How Much He Previously Knew About Green Lantern: "I didn't know about it. In terms of DC comics I was a 'Superman' reader in my childhood and adolescence. I was not at all familiar with 'Green Lantern.' In fact, I don't know if in Australia it was... it was never in broad popular culture. It may not have been here, it might have been a niche kind of obsession in the States. No, they showed me the artwork for it and I just said I'd love to be that guy." On What Convinced Him To Take The Role Of Tomar-Re: "I was absolutely, exclusively putting down my voice tracks. When I got the offer for it I said, 'Haven't they made that film?' They said, 'No, it's a completely computer-generated character.' I saw the artwork and I said, I would love to be that guy. Because I had voiced an Owl in 'Legend

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=36848&t=Geoffrey_Rush_Talks_More_About_Playing_Tomar-Re_In_Green_Lantern