

In some more excerpts from Martin Campbell's interview with Total Film, the director goes into even more detail about upcoming Warner Bros. and DC Entertainment movie, Green Lantern. There's much more to see in the actual magazine (including interviews with Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively) so be sure to pick that up when it goes on sale this week! On The Fact That Green Lantern Is A Lesser Known Character: "Green Lantern may be a tiny bit better known than Iron Man was, but Iron Man was a bloody good film, which made the difference. But certainly from Batman or Superman we're a level down in terms of being recognized." On The Sometimes Negative Reactions From The Fans: "The fanbase is bound to be offended by something. You can never satisfy them all. I went to Comic Con in San Diego and it was a mad house, these people are dyed-in-the-wool fans and the

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=37400&t=iGreen_Lantern_Director_Martin_Campbell_On_Fans_3D_Effects_And_More