As DCMarvelFreshman reported earlier on today, pictures supposedly showing Jurassic Park 4 as part of the current Universal Pictures production schedule had found there way onto the internet - generating huge excitement among fans. Well, ComingSoon.net have sadly just debunked the story: "While we'd love for [it] to be true, we checked in with Universal Pictures who tell us there is no truth to this. We're not sure how that listing made it onto the board, though we would suspect it was done as a joke by someone." What do you CBMers think? Are you annoyed that we won't be getting the fourth installment as soon as thought? Discuss below!
