Reports the site's Barry Freiman, "While it's been rumored for a while, actress Laura Vandervoort is returning to Smallville one last time as Kara. Under complete condition of anonymity, a source close to the show shared with me that Laura Vandervoort will return to Smallville for at least one more episode. While we generally don't like to report unsubstantiated news to our readers on Superman Homepage, I'm confident in the source and promised this person total anonymity." Adding credence to this is the fact that "V" has finished production on its second season, so Vandervoort's schedule would conceivably be free.
