

To read the full interview on MySpace, where the actor talks even more about his role as Sinestro including the make-up and blue screen effects used in Green Lantern, simply click on the link at the bottom of the page to head on over to the site. Many thanks to CBM's "TheBlackWidow" for the heads up! On The Voice He Uses As Sinestro: I'm trying to keep it rooted and doing an English accent, because, you know, we can all communicate through the ring, so it theoretically doesn't matter how you speak, but that's another thing that in my very long answer I was trying to get across which is the idea that I'm trying to create a guy that's worthy of this look. You know, you can't sort of walk around in a normal and talk in a normal way. It's not quite as effective as giving it some weight, so I'm
