

This is, of course, the innovation take on King's material that will consist of a film trilogy and a limited series of six episodes of a TV series to be broadcast between films one and two. Writes Deadline, "This marks Verheiden's return to NBC and UMS following his turn as a supervising producer on Heroes. He also was a writer/co-exec producer on the NBCU series Battlestar Galactica, which ran on Syfy. He most recently served as a co-executive producer of TNT's upcoming sci-fi series Falling Skies, from DreamWorks TV." For more, follow the link.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/scifimediazone/news/?a=35131&t=Mark_Verheiden_to_Co-Write_Dark_Tower_TV_Adaptation