

It was revealed last week that filming would soon occur at Osterly Park in West London, for Christopher Nolan's highly-anticipated 'Batman' threequel, The Dark Knight Rises. And now folks from the Facebook community has offered a minor update regarding filming in at that location. Offering two images directly from the Osterley Park mansion, as well a sign posted near, alerting filming, the blogger also shares a bit of info he's been notified of. Check it out below. [Click Images To Enlarge] Osterley Park is the inside of the Wayne Manor. That's right 3 rooms - dining room, and study - we forgot to ask what the 3rd room was - it was mentioned the study has a secret exit which will lead to the batcave. Technically we are guaranteed sighting of Alfred, Bruce Wayne, I think Hathaway as she's likely to be having dinner with Bruce. There is

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=38216&t=Minor_Update_For_The_Dark_Knight_Rises_Filming_In_Osterley_Park