

Our CBM community is one of the coolest on the Internet! We have some of the LARGEST comments sections online and enjoy seeing our readers actively contribute in articles and chat. It is our goal to keep this site as free and fun as possible. BUT... With a site as large as CBM is, its no secret that we have our fair share of Trolls, Flamers and Spammers--not to mention just plain bad behavior that happens here. It's always been difficult to police because we like to give our users lots of freedom. And let's face it, sometimes we all enjoy a little debate--even a few well made snide retorts, and an insult or two. But we also know that it can get out of hand and devolve into stuff that crosses a line for many users. In the past, when we would get a complaint about a user or a
