

According to Peter Georgiou of Think McFly Think as he speaks via his Twitter account, and thanks to DCU Movie Page for pointing it out: Saw some publications pointing to Superman: Man Of Steel's budget being at 175 Million. Sounds like wishful thinking by the Brothers Warner Of course it's still something that hasn't been confirmed yet, but it doesn't sound impossible. So what do you think of it? Do you think it will be just enough for this movie, or else? Sound off your opinion on the usual spot below. Directed by Zack Snyder and produced by Christopher Nolan, The Man of Steel project is set to be released on next year's winter, starring Henry Cavill, Amy Adams, and Michael Shannon! By TwitterButtons.com

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Jolt17/news/?a=39735&t=Possible_Budget_for_iMan_of_Steeli_Revealed