

What follows is an excerpt from the interview presented over at TV Guide.com. Just follow the link for the full conversation. TV Guide Magazine: You keep returning to science fiction. Why is that genre so compelling to you? Spielberg: I just had a crazy, wild imagination all my life and science fiction is the greatest outlet for me. I love history, so I do a lot of movies about history. But I also love to be able to let my mind wander, and science fiction gives you permission to wander to the extremes. TV Guide Magazine: Why do you think audiences love it so much? Spielberg: Science fiction was the first mystical experience that I had in the movies as a child. I think for a lot of young people, [sci-fi is something] you can't see in your own backyard; you can only see it through someone else's eyes or through a book you read
