

Nothing terribly exciting after the Bane pic I know, but we still get a first look at some human beings involved in the shooting of TDKR , as opposed to more vehicles!.. And most interestingly, this snap of a costume labeled "Sewer Thug". Now I don't think it's too much of a leap to assume that there will be some type of scrap in a sewer at some point in the movie. Unless Some of the thugs in the film just hang out there on their days off or something. Many thanks to Liveforfilms for the great photography job. Click the link below for a couple more pics
