

After numerous photos of Will Smith and Josh Brolin on the set of Men In Black 3, we now have our first look at Tommy Lee Jones on set as the older Agent K. Jones was spotted with Will Smith filming a scene on a park bench. Says a source about the pair "It was great to see them together again. They are getting on really well and enjoyed hanging out together. Everyone is really excited about the new movie, and it was great to see that the old chemistry is still there." Not much is known about the plot of the film but what is known is that Agent J(Smith) travels back in time to meet up with a younger Agent K(Brolin) to help him prevent a new villain, Boris(Jemaine Clement) from killing K and setting off a chain of events that could end the world.
