

As we already know, Green Lantern's success or failure will most likely affect DC and Warner's decision to adapt more DC comics characters for the big screen. Batman and Superman are safe(at least until we see Zack Snyder's Man Of Steel), but we were all looking forward to a Flash movie, maybe a Wonder Woman one since the TV show is now defunct, and of course we hope and pray that the recent rumblings that all is building to a Justice League movie in the future will come to fruition. But now Green lantern is, lets not mince words, being murdered by critics. We knew that DC and WB had a lot invested, financially and otherwise in the movie. But if GL fails to make as much of an impact as they would have hoped, will they balk at moving forward with more properties?.. Executives at Warner Bros. have slipped on their

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=39668&t=Will_iGreen_Lanternis_Negative_Reactions_Affect_Future_DC_Properties