ItsJustmovies have picked up on this from the original post at Bleeding Cool Bleeding Cool as they were looking into the rumor of Bond 23 being titled Red Sky At Night. They came across this message on the forum at www.ajb007.co.uk: Hi, new here guys, nice to find such a cool site. Im close friends with an art director in the film industry, i wont mention his name but he has worked closely with production designer Michael Carlin and is about to start work in Canada on Kal-El, the next Superman movie. He was busy in 2010 on Bond 23 before it went into hiatus. He told me that the movie for a while had the code name Red Shadow, but when official documentation and the script arrived it contained the title Red Sky At Night and as such was referred to as this by Sam Mendes, Michael Carlin and the producers and
