In it's hey day, Wizard Magazine was the #1 Magazine covering comic books and the comic book industry. With tons of articles, updates, exclusive interviews and a price guide, Wizard was the top magazine of its genre. Wizard later on became more of a pop culture read, covering movies and video games on top of its continued coverage of comic books. Like all other print media companies, Wizard Magazine seems to have taken a hit from the ever expanding internet. With a multitude of sites covering comic books and pop culture, it was only a matter of time before Wizard Entertainment saw the writing on the wall. Wizard Entertainment will continue to produce the Wizard World Tour, several comic cons produced each year by Wizard Entertainment.
